On a more positive note, in spite of the blip, series 1 of The Stig Vs has kept pace with the other (far bigger) series. What's more, despite not being on a Sunday, the show also saw a bigger peak, as well as a larger overall average. In fact, looking at the data, there's not much to separate The Stig Vs from the other two, which suggests that they may be just as competitive this week. Will we see the same thing happen? All this means that we can go ahead and update our prediction for the most watched show of the week. In years gone by, The Stig Vs would have been at the very top of this list.
